Exhibitions are back on track. Organization of trade fairs, exhibitions and conferences requires us to focus on health-safety of all participants of this process. Let's make exhibitions and conferences a safe meeting place. The management board of International Exhibition Centre aims to implement the required sanitary and hygienic measures while ensuring the guests' comfort during their stay on the territory of exhibition centre. Personal protective equipment, adequate distance between participants of the events, on-going disinfection of frequently touched surfaces, innovative technical solutions — these and much more is provided for the safety and wellbeing of the events' participants.

It is important to follow the strict rules, regulations and procedures which include compulsory participants' registration.

Compliance with sanitary and epidemiological rules is a guarantee of a safe working space

We use innovative solutions

Innovative technical solutions are used during the events. In particular, a multifunctional gate for individual sanitary control has been installed. The device has been designed for the health safety of people participating in exhibitions, congresses and other activities in the territory of International Exhibition Centre.

An innovative mobile booth with diagnostic and disinfection functions, equipped with temperature control and automatic antiseptic application device is already available for the guests of the exhibition site.

International Exhibition Centre

International Exhibition Centre is the organizer of more than 20 exhibitions and other business events annually.

We offer up-to-date infrastructure which includes 58 000 m² of the exhibition area, including 28 018 m² of the closed area in 4 exhibition pavilions and parking lots for 2 500 cars. All spaces used for exhibitions and conferences are properly prepared and adapted to work in the new conditions. We are closely following the recommendations of the Ministry of Health of Ukraine. The volumes of the exposition space of the International Exhibition Centre allow to provide the necessary social distance between the participants of the events. The large size of the buildings and the efficient ventilation system provide sufficient air circulation.
